REDS SEE TRUMAN PLAN AS A BOLD PROGRAM

LAKE SUCCESS—A source familiar with Soviet views said Saturday the Russians regard President Truman's "bold new program" as just another way of spreading the Marshall plan around the world.

As such, this source added, the Russians can be expected to fight it vigorously in the United Nations economic and social council and wherever it comes up in the U. N.

Semen K. Tsarapkin, Soviet delegate on the economic and social council, kept silent on the Truman program yesterday after Willard L. Thorp, United States assistant secretary of state, started the ball rolling in the council with a speech laying down preliminary views. But he is expected to speak today.

Thorp held out a tentative olive branch to the Soviet bloc when he told a news conference that he saw no reason why, in the field of technical cooperation, there cannot be contributions from all countries to a U. N. program, regardless of their economic structure.

The expression drew from a Soviet source later the opinion that the whole "bold new program" was nothing but a move to push the Marshall plan around the world and spread American capitalism.

Red Cross Born In Battle in 1859 Has Become World's Greatest Agency For Serving Human Need; First American Chapter Formed 1866

In the midst of armed conflict where it has served so well through the years, The Red Cross was born.

This world organization, enjoying certain privileges and immunities under the treaty known as the Geneva Convention, is perhaps the greatest movement ever conceived by civilized nations for service to human kind.

The current drive for funds may well serve us all to recall briefly the history of The Red Cross.

The Red Cross had its origin in war. In the battle of Solferino in the Italian War of 1859 the possibilities for need of such an organization was conceived by Henri Dunant of Geneva, Switzerland, who witnessed the battle and who graphically described the sufferings of the wounded soldiers. He attributed these largely to the lack of proper care and suggested the possibility of organizing in all civilized countries "permanent societies of volunteers which in time of war would render succor to the wounded without distinction of nationality." So came into being the organization which in years that followed came to be called The Greatest Mother in The World.

A small Genevan Society, devoted to local interests, took up the idea and a committee was named to consider plans and methods. A call was issued to all European governments for an international conference to meet in Geneva on October 26, 1863 and here was formed the International Red Cross.

The first Red Cross Society was organized at Wurtemberg in December 1863. The first American Red Cross Society was organized in 1866.

Confined in its early origin to work with the armed forces of the nation, civilian relief soon became a function of the Red Cross and the story is well known to every American.

Wherever disaster strikes and wherever human need is found there will be found the Red Cross and no greater tribute could be paid the organization than to enumerate the hundreds of millions of dollars that have been poured into its treasury by sympathetic and understanding peoples all over the world.

MRS. W. D. FAVER IS BURIED HERE FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. W. D. Faver, 63, who died in a local hospital late Thursday, were held at 3:00 p. m. Friday, February 18 from the Chapel of the Marek-Burns Funeral Home by Rev. P. L. Caperton.

Mrs. Faver had been critically ill for several months and during recent weeks had been under hospital care. She was born in the state of Arkansas on December 8, 1876 and died at 4 p. m. Thursday, February 17.

Mrs. Faver was the wife of W. D. Faver, well known Cameron business man. They had lived in Cameron for many years.

Interment was made in Oak Hill licity due to the stupidity of that undertaker."

He said the President learned of the case from Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

The incident to which Vaughan referred occurred several weeks ago when plans were made for Longoria's reburial.

Latin-American groups in South Texas charged that the director of a funeral home in Three Rivers declined use of the funeral home chapel to the Longorias. The Latin American groups charged race prejudice.

T. W. Kennedy, Jr., director of the funeral home, denied charges of the Latin American groups. He said he tried to discourage the Longorias from selecting the chapel in the belief that friction existed between the widow and the dead soldier's parents.

A Latin-American organization contacted Senator Johnson and he promptly arranged the burial services in Arlington.

House Committee Declines To Pull Fuse on Fireworks

The House committee on criminal jurisprudence balked at banning the sale of fireworks in Texas.

It didn't exactly snuff out the fuse on the anti-fireworks bill. Instead, it shunted the measure to a subcommittee for further—and perhaps indefinite—consideration.

Although a majority of the committee seemed clearly disposed to report the bill unfavorably, it refrained from doing so because the author of the measure, Representative Thomas of Wills Point, was absent.

Highway patrols investigated the wreck. A wet pavement was largely responsible for the accident.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD AS FARM PROGRAM MOVES

Business in Cameron continues to be good despite the so called let down over the country.

True there has been normally expected lessening of business in some lines due to adjustments and some lack of free spending but on the whole the outlook here is good.

Good rains have fallen and Milam county's always an agricultural county, will soon be getting down to business in hand—producing crops.

One of the high lights of local busines are the new cars, the prospective merchandising in automobiles brought on by a buyers market. New models are becoming available in increasing numbers and competative selling is stimulating activity along auto row.

Livestock prices continue to rule in land engagements with go ahead on producing. Stock cattle are scarce and ranchers know that prices will be high as long as there is scarcity.

Feed production will be higher and there was every indication that poultry would up the farm income to millions more this and in the immediate years to come.

One of the better signs that merchandising is returning is the local volume of advertising and also the volume of national lineage, large among auto manufacturers.

RAISE IN TAXES OR CUT DOWN SPENDING DECREED

AUSTIN, Feb. 17—Goveronr Beauford H. Jester, in a formal budget message to the legislature, Thursday asked the lawmakers to fit a $367,000,000 peg into a $318,000,000 hole.

He said the trick can be performed two ways—by reducing the larger figure, or by increasing the smaller one.

The message offered "suggestions" for general revenue expenditures totaling $367,297,209 for the next biennium.

It also pointed out that anticipated general revenue for the period totals approximately $318,000,000.

Thus, the governor presented to the legislature the problem of imposing new taxes or trimming his recommendations—with no attempt to influence its decision in either direction.

He did urge the legislature, however, to use its "best judgment, discretion and ability" in scaling down the requests to the end that no new taxes should be levied until a thorough-going study of the present tax structure is completed.

In submitting the problem, the governor said:

"It would take the skill of a financial wizard, the sagacity and ingenuity of a Solomon to adjust these estimates and suggetions to the resources available and satisfy us all.

"When you do not have enough money for your needs, there are always two things to do—reduce your needs or secure more funds."

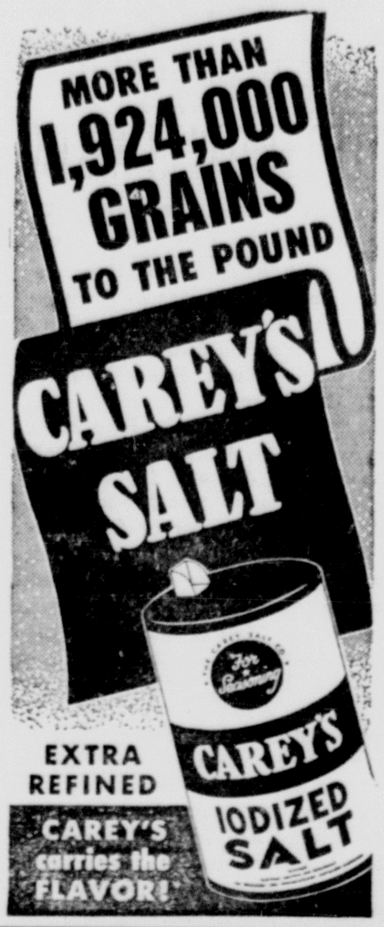
"Applying this to the state, we must, of course, trim our expenditures to the size of presently available money or get some more money. It is that simple."

Jester recalled that since he has been in office he has been a "no-new-tax" man.

"Essentially," he said, "I am still a 'no-new-tax' man."

However, the chief executive said he felt he would not be living up to his duty if he failed to emphasize the "very pressing needs" for the expansion of state services.

Nat Wofford with the Veterans Administration in Temple was in Cameron Friday on government bureau business. He still holds residence in Cameron and returned every week end. He visits here also each two weeks on official business in connection with his department.



Newspapers Blamed For War Tension Says Sweedish Publisher

DALLAS, Feb. 20 — Dr. Arne Bjornberg of Sweeden, head of the United Nations' 14 information centers over the world, today denied that Russia wants war.

Dr. Bjornberg blamed much of the tension on America's press.

"Your newspapers and radio stations have displayed the conflicts between the United States and Russia out of all proportion—and in doing so have created a serious situation," he said in an interview. He is here on a lecture tour.

"Russia, like every other nation, wants peace," but even if she did not, there's nothing she could do about it. She's too badly beaten from the last war to make another war.

"Would the United States want war if she had been virtually destroyed from the East Coast to Kansas City? Besides, you people have the atomic bomb."

Bjornberg denied that Russians hear only what the Russian leaders want them to hear.

The United Nations has information centers in Moscow, Prague and Warsaw. Bjornberg said the agencies have been very active and extremely successful since they were set up.

"There has been no censorship of information but out by these centers," Bjornberg reported. "As a matter of fact, the Governments there helped provide facilities for the centers.

FRANKLIN, Feb. 21—S. B. Jones, 47, Hearne insurance man, was indicted here today in the $81,000 hot check swindle of the First State bank here.

County Attorney Bill Palmos said the indictment listed three counts: Two under the state's hot check law and the third on theft.

"Bad Boy" Story of Ranch For Poor Kids At Copperas Cove

Hollywood pays a great tribute to the Variety Clubs of Texas' Boys' Ranch, that organization's chief humanitarian project, with the release of a new Allied Artists motion picture, "Bad Boy."

Further, the Variety Clubs of Texas will benefit by receiving proceeds from a special midnight showing of "Bad Boy" at the Cameron Theatre on March 17 and 18.

In "Bad Boy," which was produced by Paul Short, former Chief Barker of the Variety Club in Dallas, Texas, Audie Murphy, Texas' great war hero, plays the part of an orphaned boy forced to take to the road at an early age.

Actually, Audie knows a lot about the role he played, because he, too, was orphaned at the age of 16 and required to help support his brothers and sisters.

Murphy, who received more decorations in World War II than anyone else in our armed services, used his discharge money to remove the children from an orphanage and buy a home for the youngsters. He's taken care of them ever since.

"'Bad Boy,'" says Audie, "is the story of a breed of youngsters I know something about. I'm an orphan myself, and I've met lots of others, especially during my hitch in the army. They deserve all the help and sympathy we can muster for them.

"That's one reason I jumped at the chance of doing the picture. I want to help prove that if some underprivileged boys seem to be incorrigibles, it's because they were too often not understood and helped by those in a position to do so.

"I have the greatest admiration for Variety Clubs International, who not only cooperated in the filming of 'Bad Boy,' but who provided the structure about which the story was written.

"It is their Boys' Ranch at Copperas Cove, Texas, where boys are being rehabilitated, that forms the setting for 'Bad Boy.'" I protrayed one of the 'bad boys' in the picture, while Lloyd Nolan portrayed Marshall Brown, director of Boys' Ranch, James Gleason, his assistant, and Jane Wyatt, Mrs. Brown.

"The Variety Club certainly deserves the recognition this picture gives it."

Texas Chick Output Largest Since '43

The U. S. Bureau of Agriculture Economics at Austin reported the largest January chick production in Texas since 1943.

The bureau said output by commercial hatcheries last month was nearly 50 per cent more than in January a year ago. The January production was placed at 4,200,000 chicks.

Meanwhile, however, egg production last month was only 159,000,000, compared to 175,000,000 during the same month a year ago.

PRESSURE GROUPS ARE DEFEATING THE PEOPLE

Facing defeat at the hands of a Democratic Congress, President Truman indicated Thursday that he may stump the country to win again as he did last November.

Pressure groups, reactionaries and political traitors within his own party, were said to be using every means possible to defeat the 'fair deal' on which the President won a smashing victory last November.

At the time of his election few people realized that within the space of a few weeks even his own Democrats would turn against him. Such is the peculiarities of politics plus the pressure that can be brought to bear by special interests who know how to get what they want.

"Special interests," he said, "are again trying to frighten the people with the old, worn out bugaboo that socials is taking over Washington."

He told Democrats at Jefferson-Jackson dinners that despite the victory in November he is meeting determined opposition.

Dear Cameron Friends:

Your prayers helped so very much during the illness of my beloved husband and at the earthly separation gave me courage when it seemed I was overwhelmed by life and had lost my way; they helped me see the complete weavings of the Master, helped me to say "Thank you" to my Father's Will.

Your words, telegrams and cards has made me see that sorrow cannot rob me of the happy hours I have known, nor take my dear one from me, for Love will keep its own and with the passing of each year, although apart, my life will be made richer by memories in my heart.

Your flowers were beautiful and Billie loved them so, as he did the people of Cameron, and the fragrant perfume went with his spirit to his Eternal Home. For these, I thank you.

For those who planned to come to Fort Worth and "stand by" I thank you—God willed that there were those in Cameron, who were also our friends, had bowed heads and heavy hearts over the loss of their loved ones and they needed you and Billie would have desired that you remain by the sides of those at home who mourned .

Please know, I am grateful and am a better woman because I have known all of you and because I was the wife of "Billie Watson".

The new De Sota is the finest car that engineering, imagination and common sense ever built.

Loss in Wyoming Blizzard Mounts To 50 Per Cent

The blizzards of 1949 left Wyoming livestock growers groggy.

Wyoming's state emergency relief board members said livestock losses in parts of Wyoming will run from 25 to 50 per cent, because of the tremendous snows and winds since Jan. 2.

Chairman Russell Thorp told of results of a seven-hour plane flight over Wyoming's hardest-hit areas.

The first-hand information gleaned showed mounting livestock losses.

Word also was received in Cheyenne from relief committeemen at Casper. They reported that 50 per cent of all sheep in the Casper area died. Cattle losses around Casper were placed at 20 per cent.

Stockmen at Rawlins, Wyo., said cattle losses in Carbon County would be 25 per cent.

Despite warmer weather this week, feed remained on a day to day basis in the Rawlins and Casper areas in southern and eastern Wyoming. In southwestern Wyoming, Rock Spring reported a feed supply enough for only about three days.

NEAR TWO INCHES IS RECORDED HERE FRIDAY

(From the Daily)

Land soaking rains were falling over a wide area of central Texas at noon Friday and Cameron had received around 2 inches since 7 a. m.

Rain began falling here at 7 o'clock Friday morning and continued throughout the forenoon and the fall was undiminished at noon.

The rainfall was slow but heavy enough to be of great benefit for water was beginning to run and fill up dry tanks and waterholes.

The rain was part of a general fall that was benefitting a wide area. Flood conditions were reported in the lower Rio Grande Valley with two to three inches reported at noon again Friday.

Flood conditions were reported on the Trinity River with a crest of 37 feet at Dallas but falling.

A mile cool front broke through the warm air mass and brought rain. Cooler weather was predicted for Saturday and rain was also forecast for Saturday in this area.

World Day of Prayer Program Planned Here

World Day of Prayer will be observed in Cameron on March 4 in concert with similar observances throughout the world.

At this service Mrs. Chas. Eidson, of Waco, president of the Texas Council of Church Women, will be the guest speaker. The church women of Cameron are urged to attend this service.

PIONEER RESIDENT DIED HERE EARLY THURSDAY

Mrs. Ida C. Avriett, 88, pioneer resident of Cameron, and a native of Milam County, died at 4:15 a. m. Thursday, February 24 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Triggs.

Mrs. Avriett was born October 2, 1860 at Ad Hall in Milam county the daughter of early day pioneers. She was the widow of the late Giles C. Avriett, prominent leader and one time Sheriff of Milam county. Before her marriage she was Miss Ida Massengale and member of a prominent pioneer family.

She had been in feeble health for several years and had made her home with her daughter for a number of years.

Funeral services were to be held from the Chapel of the Marek-Burns Funeral Home in Cameron Friday, February 25 by Rev. Lee Lemons, Pastor First Methodist Church, with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Avriett was one of a small number of surviving pioneers who were born near the beginning of the Civil War. She had lived through stirring periods of history in this county and in her passing the community has lost one of its best loved pioneers. In the way of the men and women who survived to near the century mark, she lived to rear in the hearts of many an estimate of worth to her day and generation, few have known in the long way of time that breached the decades to present day development.

It is through realization of the distinct loss in her death that many here and over the county were resigned to the lamentable fact that such a gereration is no more for she was a noble example of the women who created faith in the things for which the succeeding generations are indebted in the great American way of life.

Mrs. Avriett was the mother of five children, four of whom survive as follows: One son, Giles L. Avriett of Austin, former business man here and for a long period of time County Auditor; Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Mrs. Charles McDermott and Mrs. Myrtle Avriett, all of Cameron.

One daughter Mrs. William R. Rogers, died several years ago.

Surviving in addition to the four children are 8 grand children and four great grand children.

STRONG STAND TAKEN AGAINST AGGRESSORS

The United States would not hesitate to go to the defense of a neighbor in trouble under the proposed North Atlantic Alliance, it was indicated in Washington.

While the treaty when ratified will retain the traditional war declaring powers by Congress, it is made plain that any alliance for protection against an aggressor nation must have teeth in it.

Norway when assured of the exact meaning of such a hook up of powers rejected the Russian demand and is joining up with the Western Powers to be signatories to the new pact.

Definite progress has been made in the past five days on the treaty. Meanwhile Russia was reported moving troops up to the Finish border apparently in an effort to frighten the small Scandanavian countries.

There will be no automatic war clause in the new treaty but it appeared certain that the alliance will be strong and will carry with it an obligation of some 3 million dollars to arm European countries.
